[EXTERNAL: This email originated from outside of the organization.]

Steve: You have indicated an intent to amend plaintiffs' complaint. Given that your plan, we would like to see your motion to amend before we appear for a deposition. In the meantime, one question that occurs to me is: how/why did plaintiff ascertain that she purchased the subject computer in 2015 the evening before her deposition? In other words, what caused her to now believe that her complaint and answers to interrogatories are mistaken? Did she discover additional documents (credit card bill, receipt, etc.) that clarified that? Any light you can shed on this issue would be appreciated. I think once this is all sorted out, we should be able to get the deposition of plaintiffs and HP set up relative soon thereafter. Best, Chris
